

MAN OUT TO CATCH NOT PURCHASE WIFE

Huntresses For Husbands
With Success Assured
Likely to Fail.

SOFT WHITE HANDS
NOT SATISFYING

Home and Companionship Desired,
Not Always a Good Fellow.

To the Editor of the Washington Times.
It would seem that the article in Saturday evening's edition of the Times in reply to the unsigned article of Friday headed "Man of Romance," is scarcely specific enough to be of value to the person writing the original article.

In the first place both the private income and the position with a salary attached are a distinct disadvantage to a woman who has arrived at a suitable age for a life companion of a woman or thirty years rightfully consider the business side of the question, and usually reason that they have no moral right to expect a woman to abandon a life of apparent happiness and plenty for another variety of happiness which might not be any more perfect, and on a more limited allowance.

If his income is not more than twice as much as hers he could not hope to give her as much in clothes, theater parties, etc., as she has been accustomed to, and if his income is not likely to exceed that of hers by at least 20 per cent in the immediate future he naturally concludes that both are better off as they are.

Then, too, few women who are in offices have had the necessary training to make a proper home for anyone, much as we all would like to think to the contrary, and without some evidence of such training it is usually considered to be wiser to take no chances.

Again, if a woman shows by her action that she wants only one who has made his success in life, she will very rarely ever find him for he seldom returns for a male at that kind of bait, because he is not out to purchase but to "catch."

He thinks of home and companionship instead of wanting to be a "good fellow" with the lady of his choice.

The questions for the writer of the original article to consider most seriously are, what can I give in service, companionship, cheerfulness of home, palatable cooking that will not result in dyspepsia, and kindness when burdens bear heavily?

Is she willing in case of adversity to bear her share without complaint, to refrain from nagging, to cheer and comfort, instead of adding to discouragement?

Is she willing to concede that a real man is not a flirt and does not want to be the companion of a woman who knows her well, but not necessarily long in time, and that he wants her to know him before he makes advances?

Perhaps it may be necessary for her to change her idea of the companion she hopes to have, but it is most likely that it will be necessary for her to conform herself to what should be the ideal of such a man. The ideal of most men of the proper type is the woman who shows off to the best advantage when in his company alone at their own fireside, and not the one who shines in the company of places of that kind, nor even the one who makes the best appearance on the street, notwithstanding most story books and papers to the contrary.

It seems impossible for many women (and possibly she is of the number) to realize that men usually see them as they are and not as they would like to be. While all men like to see a neat woman, few care for a made-up one. Though a woman of a kind of brilliant and witty will be the most popular outside, she will rarely be taken for the home-making companion.

Most young women seem to think that "soft white hands" are the things the men long to see, but they are only the title page to the book of which the face is the "preface," telling of all their lack of ability to manage a home properly, or that is the opinion of the most men of the type to which she would seem to refer.

They want a wife who is "a woman, first, last, and always," and if they are blessed with children, will know how to assist in rearing them to be the proper type of men and women.

SHE IS A SUFFRAGETTE

MRS. T. P. O'CONNOR.

"TAY PAY" O'CONNOR, M. P., has been converted to woman suffrage by his wife. Mrs. "Tay Pay" confided the hint of his change of heart when she arrived in New York yesterday on the Minnetonka from London.

At first, "Tay Pay" couldn't stand for her to march in the parades. But now he isn't saying much, because he is beginning to learn how it is, says his wife. It wouldn't surprise her any day if he should come out in his various publications strongly favoring suffrage for the weaker sex.

"The day is bound to come when woman shall vote," she said. "In London, the way things are going, we expect to have woman suffrage within five years. I am not dreaming when I say that. The sentiment is really powerful. Men are beginning to admit it."

"Tay Pay" is one of them."

MRS. MORSE SELLS JEWELS AND FURS

Wife of Convicted Banker Sacrifices All to Pay Husband's Debts.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Mrs. Charles W. Morse, wife of the convicted banker, declares that she has sacrificed her jewels and furs and stripped her Fifth avenue home of its sumptuous furnishings in order to aid her husband in paying his pressing debts.

"It is perfectly true," said Mrs. Morse when questioned. "My husband is today a poor man. There were bills to be met—bills from lawyers, stenographers, and printers—for services in connection with my husband's trial, and he was powerless to meet them. Then I did what any other woman would do who loves her husband."

"I cheerfully sold anything in my possession that any one would buy."

PLACING EACH OTHER.

The old man and the old woman were fellow passengers in a stage coach in the Virginia mountains, and the old woman kept staring at him as if trying to remember.

At last she said:
"Stranger, 'pears to me I seen you somewhere."

The old man eyed her reflectively and scratched his head.
"Spec you have," said he. "Ah been there."—Harper's Magazine.

PROF. CARL HOLER LEADS THE ARION

Makes First Appearance As Musical Director of the Popular Society.

Prof. Carl Holer has made his debut as musical director of the Arion Society. He first appeared as leader of the society last night at the fourth concert of the season.

Prof. Holer was well received, and he was congratulated upon his work. The program was a long one, and varied, with chorus and solo, vocal and instrumental music.

HARD ON THE GOSSIPS.
"Why are all you women down on Mrs. W. Jones? You were all very sorry for her when he husband died."

"Yes, and how did she repay our interest in her? She fixed things so that none of the papers would publish the amount of money he left."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

KIND OF HER.
The Caller—I called in answer to yer ad, fer a first-class cook, mum.

The Lady (eagerly)—And you want the position?
The Caller—Not at present, mum.

There's three other parties ahead of yez, but I'll accept a three months' option on the job without any consideration.—Puck.

THANKS

The kindly expressions of approval today from the many visitors and patrons at the new Walk-Over Shop are herewith acknowledged with sincere thanks and gratitude.

We are eager to have you see the new shop, and inspect its displays—right now, when things are "spick and span."

COLD STORAGE MEN PAY MORE FOR EGGS

Indications Point to Higher
Price Next Fall—Hens
Laying Early.

If there is anything in forecasting the egg market, prices next fall and winter will be about 2 cents higher than they were the past year. This is because they are now being put in cold storage at cost of 2 cents more per dozen than they were twelve months ago.

According to reports received by local dealers, hens are laying earlier this spring, as a result of the light winter, and eggs are now being held back for setting purposes. With this as the case, it is not likely that the market will be over supplied with stock for several months. It will reach a fairly stable basis, however, but one price. That price promises to be around 17 to 18 cents.

Last spring eggs were put in cold storage at 16 cents a dozen and sold in the fall and winter at from 28 to 30 cents. Now, they are being stored at 18 cents, and dealers seem to be unable to force the price down, on account of the fact that goods are being held in the country.

From present indications, it will either be a case of the dealer "waiting" not so much on cold storage eggs next fall as he did the past year, or of the consumer paying all the way from 30 to 32 cents a dozen for them.

ROSE-RUCHE BACK IN STYLE AGAIN

Trimming Popular Twenty-five Years Ago Now Has Sanction of Paris.

Some of us remember as far back as twenty-five years ago when "rose-ruche" trimming was used on cloth and silk gowns. This trimming was made of silk, raveled out two inches at the edge and double box pleated in ruche fashion. It was used to edge sleeves, overskirts and the fronts of bodices.

Now the rose-ruche is back under splendid auspices, for it is introduced by a famous Paris dressmaker—and back it comes on an old-time polonaise at that.

This straight gown is trimmed at sleeve edge around the neck and at the lower edge with silk ruche trimming frayed out in the old style fashion and there is no other trimming on the gown except the long row of buttons from neck to hem.

LATEST NOVELTY IS EXTENSION BAG

A novel shopping bag is made in exquisite leather with the usual clasp and handle, but having an added length that when the shopper starts out with her bag empty is folded up and clasped to the side of the bag.

After the regular supply of small purchases has been made and the accumulated samples threaten to overflow, and burst all bounds, the extension side is unclasped without even opening the bag. It is simply a matter of pulling it out.

Indeed, it would hardly be straining a point to consider it, in its extended condition, a one-night bag, for if the finest of night dresses were used and the faintest of traveling helps, they could all be got in without a doubt.

A look at these leather shopping bags will show the clever woman how the idea could be developed in broad shallow ribbon for a fancy work bag that would hold little or much in the way of embroidery. In making the ribbon bag the buttoning up of the extension side would have to be rather complete—three enameled buttons at least would be required to hold the wide, soft ribbon in place.

GLASS IN BATH ROOM.

Glass shelves and towel rods in a bath room save the time and temper of the cleaner. The chief objection to these fixtures is the cost. If one watches marked down sales they can often be picked up at half price.

WOMAN'S INQUIRY COLUMN

Letters to The Washington Times Woman's Inquiry Column are invited. Names and addresses must be affixed to questions sent by mail, not for publication, but simply as an evidence of good faith. Questions which are not of general interest will be answered by mail, if accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope; rush inquiries by telephone. Call Main 5369.

The department will endeavor to answer to the best of its ability, questions not of technical nature, or involving professional judgment. It must also decline to answer questions which concern the names of proprietary articles, or the decision of bets.

West Point Cadets.

AMERICAN DANCERS GIVEN FIRST PLACE

Georgie Mahrer, Expert, Puts French in the Second Rank.

English people are tearing their hair over an interview given by Georgie Mahrer, an Austrian, said to be the finest dancer in the world, who has been brought over to London from Paris. According to Mahrer the best dancers in the world are, not the Austrians, nor the Germans, not even the English, but the Americans. Along with people on the other side of the Atlantic he classes a select few of the Parisians.

"Vienna," he says, "is the home of the waltz, but my country people are not, in my opinion, the best waltzers. That distinction belongs to the Americans and the Parisians. The English lift their feet too far off the ground, dance too quickly and turn too rapidly."

Truth to tell the average Englishman has a poor opinion of the American as a dancer and loses no chance of ridiculing such innovations as the "half-time" and the "glide."—Kansas City Star.

PURITAN COLLAR HOLDING ITS OWN

The Puritan collar, so much in evidence during the summer, is still holding its own. Perhaps no prettier form of it has been seen than the Irish lace ones.

There are also many who appear on the street with them on the coldest winter day. While their hands are in the depths of enormous muffs, their throats are left entirely exposed.

Putting aside the question of health this habit is quite out of place, for no one can be comfortable under such conditions, and the old adage should be remembered, that anything that is not comfortable is not in good taste.

HATS MUST ALWAYS BE PUT AWAY CLEAN

Will Not Look Dingy By Mid-
Season If Properly Cared For.

Hats would not look dingy by the middle of the season if they were freshened each time before being put away. Feathers should be shaken and quilts wiped. Ribbons or other loops require brushing and patting to bring them into shape. These "ads" take but a moment and they make a decided difference in the wearing qualities. A bottle of gasoline or some patent cleansing fluid is indispensable to the girl who wants her clothes to look neat.

No dress collar, no matter how delicate the material, should be allowed to become soiled, and it is found to, if not cared for properly. About every other time, after wearing, the edge should be wiped with a cleansing fluid, the latter applied with a piece of soft cloth.

POPULAR SKIRT WALKING LENGTH

The walking length skirt, either with or without the high waistline, and the plain coat of middle length, semi or loose fitting, with plain coat sleeves and severely tailored mannish collar and cuffs, are always worn, and for traveling and country wear are always in good taste.

As to the high waistline to the support of these are absolutely disappearing to any but the longest-waisted, slim figure, unless the bodice or blouse is a continuation in the line of the skirt fabric. Nothing more disfiguring can well be imagined than the high waisted, black or dark material with a white blouse.

Reduso CORSETS

THE perfect type of reducing Corset. A flattering improvement to the over-developed figure is assured.

The ingenious goring and scientific construction easily reduces the figure from one to five inches. The REDUSO proves the absolute folly of burdening a stout woman's corset with straps and harness like devices.

REDUSO, Style 770, (same as illustrated) for tall, large women. Material of very serviceable white coutil or batiste with three pairs hose supporters. Sizes 19 to 36. Price $3.00.

REDUSO, Style 772, for short, large women, same materials as 770, but slightly lower bust. Price $3.00.

REDUSO, Style 774, longer below the waistline than 770, material especially woven to withstand extreme wear. Three pairs hose supporters. Price $5.00.

W. B. Nuform Corsets for all Average Women

Durability of material, critically careful making and authoritative styling and ideal fit are all yours, irrespective of the price you pay.

NUFORM, Style 463, for average figures, medium high bust, very long hips and back length, material of white coutil or batiste, trimmed with lace and ribbon, long supporters. Sizes 18 to 30. Price $1.00.

Other models $1.50, $2.00 and $3.00

At all stores.

IF IT'S WORK FOR A WANT AD— LET A WANT AD DO IT!

For most of your life you have been trying to do a want ad's work—instead of letting the want ad do it.

You have been doing, or trying to do, at much expense of time, money, and nerves, things which the want ads do easily, readily, quickly.

Perhaps you tried to sell property—to rent it—to find work or workers—to obtain some particular thing—trying to do things which the want ads are in business to do.

You have "adopted" the telephone, the phonograph, the other aids to pleasure and convenience in modern life—SO WHY NOT "ADOPT" THE WANT AD, and make it do the part of the day's work, which is "WANT AD WORK?"

"Put It In The Times"

Superfluous Hair

There are many treatments advertised in the newspapers for the removal of superfluous hair, but there is little offered by the manufacturers of these preparations in the way of substantial evidence of their worth. This is not the case with the well-known method, DeMiracle. Dr. Starbuck, the prominent physician, says: "After thoroughly testing DeMiracle in my practice, I can say that I feel justified in making the assertion that it is the only successful method of removing objectionable growths of hair from any portion of the body. It does the work promptly, it is a cleanly method, and does not injure the most delicate skin, nor does it cause the slightest pain even on the most sensitive portions of the body. I can heartily endorse DeMiracle and recommend its use."

If DeMiracle were not the best preparation in the world for the removal of superfluous hair, we would not get the endorsements of so many prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals, and magazines.

DeMiracle is mailed, sealed in a safety wrapper, for $1.00. Your money back without question (no red tape) if it fails to do all that is claimed for it. Booklet free in plain sealed envelope, by the DeMiracle Chemical Co., Desk 3, 1909 Park Avenue, New York. For sale by W. S. Thompson Pharmacy, S. Kann, Sons & Co., and all good stores.
